

Pitch Preparation

Create a “sales pitch” (a speech that you give in order to persuade/convince someone to buy something) for your new word. Use the following format:

1. Write down your word
2. Outline the specific part of speech (noun, verb, adjective etc.)
3. Define the word
4. Use it in a sentence

Example (from the N.Y. Times) by ROHANA KHATTAK, ISLAMABAD, PAKISTAN

Word: oblivionaire

Part of speech: (noun)

Definition: A billionaire who chooses to be blind to the disparity and inequality that their wealth is creating.

Used in a sentence: Gen Z's furor over the so-called oblivionaires ignoring global crises is blowing up on social media, in a campaign being noticed by many global and political figures.
